Wingrave Cross Roads 1999?

Public Meeting

to discuss A418 trunk road.
8.00 PM
Wednesday 6 October
Wingrave School Hall

Editorial

Shopping! Being faithful Leighton Buzzard shoppers we haven't been to Aylesbury to see the new department store, Beatties, opened in Friars Square, but it all sounds excellent. There have been a lot of small shops closing in Leighton recently and much anguished correspondence in the local paper, all of which underlines the need for traditional market towns to find something to lure customers away from the out of town supermarkets - or away from Milton Keynes. If you usually grit your teeth and struggle around Tesco's once a fortnight, give yourself a treat. Get on Colin's bus on a Saturday and look around a real market town, either Leighton or Aylesbury!

As you will see from the front cover, the parish meeting on the A418 is very much in our minds. Please do go on 6th October (7pm exhibition, 8pm talking) to the meeting at Wingrave School. Our own parish council meets on the following Friday (8th) and will be writing the parish council's own response, and residents are of course very welcome to that meeting too. The closing date for comments on the Department of Transport's questionnaire is at the end of this month, and we still have copies if you want one.

Remember the two housing surveys? Aylesbury Vale has just sent the parish council the results of their survey in the village. We are printing them in this issue. It shows that there really are people in need of affordable housing in this village and we hope it will be useful to anyone with ideas.

At our September parochial church council meeting it was agreed we should fit bird wire to the tower louvres and replace the downpipe and sealing gaskets to help eliminate damp on the walls from leaking guttering.

We are holding a cheese and wine evening with Christmas Floral demonstrations to raise money for the upkeep of the church; and on Sunday 5th December the Leighton Buzzard Salvation Army will be giving an afternoon concert. Teas will be served afterwards in the Church Room.

The 100 Club is now going well and membership continues to grow. September's winners were Mr A Ford, Mr P Legg and Mr R Scutchings.

We still have approximately 2 acres of grazing land (bottom of allotments) for letting, if anyone is interested; please ring me (681343) or the Rector (681623).

BUCKS AGE CONCERN

We are seeking volunteers to help us run a small, friendly club for older people with special needs. The club will meet every Thursday in Wing Lodge Bungalows and some older people from Aston Abbots will be coming to this club.

Can you spare a few hours some Thursdays to help us provide a "good day out" for the club members and give respite to carers? Please contact Margot Hill at Bucks Age Concern on 0296 431127. Guidance, support and expenses for volunteers.

RECTOR'S REPORT

At this time of the year there are frequently meetings arranged which clash. And there has to be some decision made as to which meeting has the priority - for we cannot be in two places at the same time.

I have that problem on October 6th. I have already committed myself to a meeting in Winslow entitled "So what's special about the Village Church?" Then I find that there is a public meeting arranged in Wingrave about the proposed A418 Aylesbury bypass.

I am not trying to guess how either meeting will turn out. The 'specialness' of the Church in a Village Community is almost certainly linked with the sense of intimacy that exists in a village but not in a town. Part of that includes the elements of peace and quiet that are valued. Then there is the sense of history which comes from living in, or among, ancient cottages and other public buildings. I suppose tranquillity could be the word I am looking for. So that would seem to suggest that those in favour of 'Villages' must be opposed to all that threatens their tranquillity - especially new roads.

It makes no sense to me to complain about the volume of heavy traffic using village roads unless we are prepared to support an alternative route. Different transport systems have been tried at various times in our history. We enjoy walking beside the old canals. Some of the railway system closed by Dr Beeching have been converted into walking and cycling paths. They are rich with wildlife. They help us to appreciate the goodness of God's Creation.

One day those who come after us may feel the same about the road system that we have left for them.

But all the time we have this conflict. Village Churches - liability or asset? Fast, integrated road system - or dangerous network of country lanes? Corridors of pollution or areas of environmental protection?

There are no simple answers. There is not even any right or wrong. We live in a world where change is endemic - there is no way that we can escape from it. That change threatens our tranquillity and forces us to face up to the conflict that we try to avoid.

SUNDAY sees the start of a new era for Aylesbury's Methodists as the Rev Fred Ireland takes over as superintendent minister of the Aylesbury circuit.

He takes the helm from Peter Lemmon who has moved to a church in Harlesden, north west London.

The 35-year-old former manager of a Moss Bros hire shop and butcher who has also worked in a bookshop will be formally inducted into the church at a service in Buckingham Street on Sunday.

The Aylesbury church and 11 other village chapels which Mr Ireland will oversee are a far cry from his previous position in Sudbury, Suffolk, where he ran one church in a market town with a population of just 16,000.

A keen golfer, he is married with three children aged two, six and eight, who could play a large part in his style of worship at the church.

"There are many things I can bring to the church," he said. "And I want to look at all age worship in the church with children playing a bigger part in the service."

A MONTHLY LOOK AT FACTS YOU NEVER WANTED TO KNOW

Why is it easier to drive in a screw with a long screwdriver than it is with a short one?

It is sometimes supposed by persons imperfectly informed in mechanics that a long screwdriver gives greater 'leverage' than a short one. This is however incorrect. The action of a screwdriver, the pressure on which is direct, is not in any way analogous to that of a lever.

The superiority of a long screwdriver rests simply on two facts: 1/ You can generally get a better grip of a long screwdriver than a short one, and can bring the whole weight of your body and strength of your arms to bear on it, and 2/ the torsion of the iron in a long screwdriver comes in to supplement the force employed. The only way in which leverage can come in is in connection with the breadth of the point of the screwdriver; and even this counts for nothing beyond the breadth of the head of the screw.

Now tell that to your friends.

COD WITH BROCCOLI & RED PEPPER

SERVES 3-4

Quick fried pieces of cod with broccoli, red onion and pepper in black bean sauce. Use canned rather than dried beans and rinse well as they are salty.

*1 egg white
4 teaspoons cornflour
2 tablespoons soy sauce
500 g (1 lb) cod fillet, skinned and cubed
150 ml (1/4 pint) groundnut oil
1 clove garlic, crushed
2.5 cm (1 inch) piece fresh root ginger, grated
1 small red onion, cut into wedges
175 g (6 oz) broccoli florets
1 red pepper, cored, seeded and cut into strips
3 tablespoons sherry
2 tablespoons oyster sauce
2 tablespoons canned black beans, rinsed
pepper to taste*

- 1 Whisk the egg white until frothy and stir in 3 teaspoons cornflour and 1 tablespoon soy sauce. Add the fish and mix well.
- 2 Heat the oil in a wok. Fry the fish, in batches, for about 2 minutes until cooked through. Drain on kitchen paper; set aside.
- 3 Pour off all but 3 tablespoons oil from the wok. Add the garlic, ginger, onion, broccoli and red pepper and stir fry for 3 minutes.
- 4 Mix together the remaining cornflour, soy sauce, sherry, oyster sauce and 2 tablespoons water. Add to the wok with the black beans and pepper; stir until thickened.
- 5 Return the fish to the wok and heat through, stirring gently. Serve at once.

Thanks to Colin for this recipe.
