Aston Abbotts Parish Magazine

Issue No. 150 July 1996

Editorial-----Thurs. 27th. June.

Well! Here we are, summer at last. The weather has improved and had we won the football last night, overall, June would have been a very pleasant month indeed.

Well done to all those who represented Aston Abbotts in the 'Cubblington Fun Run'. In particular Halisi Drysdale who came first in his group and Andy Ford for coming a very creditable 2nd. I think we put up as many runners/walkers as Cubblington. I wonder whether they will respond with Tug-of-war teams at our fete? Anyway! It was a well organised event and those who stayed in Cubblington for their fete had a very enjoyable afternoon.

Talking of fetes, there is great deal of activity going on to ensure our Aston Abbotts fete is even bigger and better than last year. Many is the kitchen which is swinging into action preparing cakes, jams (and hopefully marmalade for sale) Even my bees are doing their bit. Plans are afoot for stalls and games to suit everyone. Delicious teas and barbecue are being planned, ice-cream and drinks ordered. To complete the day, the Bull & Butcher will be open all day and there will be live music in the evening. If you feel you would like to do your bit to make the fete a success; whether it be by helping on the day (in which case please phone Gordon Smith on 681 373) or if you want to donate garden plants, tombola prizes, gifts, handicrafts or bric-a-brac please note the collection times further on in this issue.

With the onset of the better weather, it's been nice to see the youngsters able to ride their bikes around. Congratulations to those of you who have been lucky enough to have new bikes this summer. Perhaps it's a sign of getting old but I have to say I am pleased to see so many wearing safety helmets; particularly necessary to those who like to dash around 'no-handed'!!!!

Have fun! But please be careful kids! There are a lot of idiot car drivers who insist on driving through the village too fast, particularly around the early evening.

There are a few changes to the services advertised in this issue. Old Masters are serving two, three, & four course meals at very reasonable prices, Alan Kempster is offering the additional service of removing wasp nests and a new advertiser is (an old friend of Rita's and mine) Paul Esders who is offering a delivery service for quality seafood.

Please note that this Chronicle is a combined issue covering July and August and that I would like all copy for the September issue by Friday the 16th of August..

And finally! all the Chronicle staff wish you all a restful and pleasant summer holiday. We have arranged the usual charabanc outing to the coast; largely at the insistence of 'Boss' the office cat who can't resist whelks.

PARISH COUNCIL

Unofficial notes of the meeting held on Wednesday 19th June 1996

---

The meeting was attended by County Councillor Brenda Jennings

(1) Matters arising

Verges in Village: A reply had been received from the BCC Planning and Transportation Department, due to lack of funds, nothing could be done.

Pavement outside 69 The Green The work would be carried out in the next three months. Concern was expressed that there was some subsidence on the road at this point. Mr Headon had agreed to visit the Village on Friday 21 June. Various problems were to be brought to his attention at this visit.

(2) County Council matters

C/Cllr Jennings reported to the Parish Council:

- 1) A possibility that a Planning Application was to be made for 85 houses on the allotment site in Wing.
- 2) Mr David McGahey had been appointed as Director of Education for Bucks.
- 3) Bucks Scouts Council with Youth and Community Service had been awarded £183,000 from the lottery to build a climbing wall at Green Park.
- 4) Oxleys Infill Site at Wingrave Road was nearing completion, and September seemed likely.

The following new publications had been received:
A new Guide to Alternative Travel, Guide for Small Businesses, proposals for the new Central Railway Route, Economic development Strategy 1996/97

(3) Planning Matters

Decisions

- 1) A/96/0569/APP Beulah, Wingrave Road, single storey rear extension
- 2) A/96/0547/APP Bridge Farm, extension to livestock building
- 3) A/96/0662/APP 14 The Green, two storey side extension The above applications have been approved.

Other Applications:-

Public Entertainment License, The Bull and Butcher: The Parish Council had no comments to make on the application this time.

Microlight Flying Club, Aston Clinton: The Application for use had been withdrawn

(4) Trees

Concern was expressed at the possible Church Room extension which would entail removing the yew tree. Planning permission would be necessary to cut the tree down and needed to be applied for in plenty of time to avoid delay with plans.

(5) Children's Free Entertainment 7 August

It was noted that this clashed with the Wingrave Play Scheme. Unfortunately nothing could be done.

CABARET

1996

Tickets for the Aston Abbotts 1996 Cabaret were as hard to come by as a full pint of beer at Frank McMannises. That the Show was this year going to be special, apparent from the general buzz of anticipation on arrival.

The hard work and planning that had gone in to preparing the excellent meal of Pasta a la Proscuittoe e Formaggio con Insalata e Fane, and the aromas were truly mouth-watering.

I noticed also this year with the small touches, the personalised menus on each table demonstrating that Andy Bistro has at last mastered his P.C

John Branker opened proceedings following the excellent meal and the first spot, never being the easiest, was greeted with rapturous cheers and applause from the audience who had already partaken copiously of the fruits of Backus. Indeed there was some concern expressed by our intrepid organisers who appealed to the audience that there were indeed soft drinks available and not to panic as extra reserves of wine were being sent for. I believe from John Whyte's personal cellar. Who said working for H.M. Customs had no benefits !!

The entertainment was superb. Following John Brankers opening act, Ann Branker took the stage, either in an advanced state of pregnancy or having taken far too much food on board, and John Branker did confirm that she rarely says "No".

The third act of the evening was John Whyte and John Branker in their "Alias Smith & Jones" roles. I found this act somewhat confusing, having led a much more sheltered life than the thespians on stage. John Whyte apparantly had something wrong with his old man who appears to be covered in bumps and his handle is falling off. What ailment he can have is beyond me, but I hope he recovers soon. I only hope that John Branker's clapping affliction can be cured with some therapy.

Gordon followed with some sophisticated harmonica playing and demonstrated his considerable talent with his rendition of "Learning the Blues".

Before the next sketch, again an appeal went out advising us that soft drinks were available, and judging by Andy Bystra's little ditty, I can only assume that he along with Tony & Bridget were largely responsible for the shortage of alcoholic beverage at this time.

Act 5 was Margaret Kent doing a Joyce Grenfell (Grindle) sketch, not only dressing the part but word perfect but a very difficult sketch

With Act 6 we had John White's rendition of Chris de Burg's "Lady in Red", and the ladies who are missing undergarments can claim these from his wife, Deidrie, with an explanation as to why you threw them at him in the first place.

And then the Act I had been waiting for. Not for the first time, "The Bristols". Superb but certain less of them both than before.

Act 8 was Nigel with his large organ, or does he call it a "Stonker". What can I say, charismatic.

And then Kevin, our very own Welsh slow hand on a day pass from the Welsh mountains with Branker leading and three backing girls brought us towards the end of the Show. Followed by Bridget with "From a Distance".

There weren't many dry eyes in the house, and by the time Tom Jones, or was it John Whyte, (the wine was starting to take effect), gave us his rendition of Delilah. It would be fair to say the place was in uproar.

A fantastic evening and one that will be difficult to follow.

BACON AND BLUE CHEESE SALAD

This month's recipe was supplied to Annie's Kitchen by our editor Andy. It was inspired by recipes in one of several Milk Marketing Board diaries given to his mother by her milkman each Christmas. They contain many practical low cost though tasty recipes and it is my intention to draw on these for inspiration in future issues of the Chronicle. This one was chosen because it is just the sort of thing we need on these hot summer days.

A tasty salad of contrasting flavours and textures to try.

Serves 4

1. Cook the bacon in a pan for 7-8 minutes or until crisp and golden. Remove with a slotted spoon and drain on absorbent paper. Add the butter to pan and melt. Add garlic and bread and cook for 3-4 minutes until crisp and golden. Drain on absorbent paper.
2. Mix the cheese and mayonnaise together. Stir in cream and black pepper. Beat well to blend.
3. Mix salad leaves, bacon and croutons together. Place on serving plates, top with dressing and serve.

INGREDIENTS

12 rashers smoked bacon, cut into bite-sized pieces
2oz butter
2 garlic cloves, crushed
4 thick slices of bread, crusts removed and cut into 1/2 inch squares
2oz Blue Stilton, crumbled
4 tbsl mayonnaise
3 fl oz fresh single cream
black pepper
mixed salad leaves.

Yours Tastefully From Annie's Kitchen

CABARET CONTINUED

A list of thanks to the suppliers of the super food: Jackie, Linda, Rita, Sally, Shona, Carolyn, Bridget, Alison, and I.C. Operations, Ann. And normally at this point there are thanks to Neil Cheshire for his musical contribution to a successful show, but it occurs to me that that statement is too bland. On reflection Neil has been the anchor man musically in so many of our shows be it Chronicle, Evenings, or the Christmas Show, and I wonder how many cast members over the years he has encouraged, cajoled and bullied to see them through the nerve-racking first night. So maybe this time an extra special thank you Neil. And it occurs to me that you must have some very amusing stories to tell of some of the shows past. The Aston Abbots out-takes. I am sure some of the stories you could print would make amusing reading. And finally Andy Bystra for his organisational talents. And finally my apologies to anyone that should have been mentioned but hasn't been. I blame it on a second glass of wine!

AYLESBURY RING

SATURDAY
13TH JULY 1996

Once again, the opportunity presents itself for you to enjoy the enormous self-achievement of walking the Aylesbury Ring in a day. The 32 miles was achieved last year in about 12 hours and although all ages were represented, one 'star' was well into his 70s!

Everyone is welcome but in order to complete 32 miles in a day whilst you can be virtually any age you need to be "walking fit".

This year it is intended to have a support group in Wendover and again in Waddesdon so that those who feel that they should set their sights on about 10 or 20 miles will be able to be lifted back from there. Hopefully, everyone will still be able to link up together in the Pub at the end of the day.

Anyone interested in participating in the walk or anyone who would be prepared to act as the support vehicle is requested to contact David Taylor (Tel: 681875).

Final arrangements for the various stages and associated transport, as well as practical advice on walking longer distances are to be discussed in the Bull & Butcher on Tuesday the 9th of July starting at 8.00pm. If you intend to 'Walk the Ring' (or just part of it), it is recommended you pop along to this informal discussion.

FAMILY FUN DAY

Sunday 7th July

Sponsored walk followed by a barbecue lunch, tombola, games for the kids and a bar to refresh all the thirsty participants. For those of you without children at the school tickets should be purchased in advance from the school. Judy Kennedy has kindly donated the use of her garden as the venue;-

The barbecue will also be open to non-walkers, once again meals must be booked in advance. Non-sponsored walkers will be welcome upon payment of £1.00 to help with running costs.

WIMBLEDON

Biff-Buff of the ball on each racket
Lobs, aces, volly or smash
Becker, Edberg or Steffii,
Ball boys and girls make a dash

Intense, what clapping and sighing!
Eyes follow from the left and to the right.
Duchess, spectator or player.
That ball is always in sight.

Back-hand, love game or advantage
Was that in or just out?
Commentators pass an opinion
Umpire leaves no one in doubt.

Not only the seeds of the strawberries.
There's one more beaten and gone.
"Quiet please. No flush during the playing"
Game, set and match has been won.

Grunts with the effort of serving.
Groans, as covers go on till it's dry.
Wiping the sweat from the forehead.
Who'll hold the trophy so high?

Whether they're winners or losers,
Wearing white dresses or shorts.
Applause for the players is equal,
As they curtsy or bow from the courts.

Bouquets. All too soon come the finals.
Play of the very last ball
One more event in the history,
Of the world's greatest tennis of all.

Around the School and in the Playground

Regardless of whether you look round the school or are able to observe children in the playground, see how they behave with one another. Do they play well together? Do there seem to be children who are ostracised and isolated? Is there evidence of bullying - either via physical aggression or verbal teasing? If so, does the teacher on duty notice this and intervene, or does it go unnoticed/get ignored?

Is the playground a happy place with friendly children? How would your child fit in here?

Whether or not you look round the school or only manage to observe from the outside, it is a particularly good idea to watch children coming in and out of the school gates at the beginning and end of the day. (Be careful how you do this, so you don't give the wrong impression and make anyone think you are looking to abduct a child!) The real relationships between children often emerge only when they escape the school's control. DO those children walking from the school seem to be relating well with each other?

If possible, speak to some of the parents who are dropping their children or waiting to collect them. See what the parents have to say about the school. Can you relate to the parents? If you can't your child may not relate well with their children.

What questions should I ask the Head Teacher?

Providing that a prior appointment has been made it should be possible to speak to the headteacher of the school that you might like your child to attend. You can learn much from this meeting because it is the headteacher who plays a central role in the establishment and maintenance of the ethos and the educational standards of the school. Come prepared and make the most of the time available. You might like to ask questions about the following:-

- What are the values and aims of the school?
- Is there a School Prospectus?
- What kind of behaviour is expected?
- How is discipline maintained?
- What should parents do if they are worried about an aspect of the child's education?
- How are parents kept informed about their child's progress at school.?
- How often and when do parents receive written reports about their child's progress?
- What are the rules regarding school uniform?
- What are the arrangements for eating and play during the lunch period?
- What links are there between the school and the local playgroup, First School and Secondary Schools?
- What happens if your child is unwell at school?
- What arrangements are made for school assembly?
- What arrangements are made to ease entry of a new child to the school? e.g. half day visits etc.

There will be other things that you have thought of, of course, but this list should be helpful to start you off.

Parents often wonder what they can do at home to give them good grounding for success. In the next article I will concentrate on what can be done to help children in the three core areas of English, Mathematics and Science.

The next in this series by Mr McClellan is entitled "WHAT CAN I DO TO HELP PREPARE MY CHILD FOR ENTRY INTO HIS OR HER NEW SCHOOL?" and will appear in the Sept. issue of the Chronicle.

RECTOR'S REPORT

I wish I knew what it is that triggers memory. All of a sudden, and for no particular reason, a scene from the past comes into mind, and after a few minutes of nostalgia, it quietly retreats back into the subconscious.

It started with the shopping list. Then I was back in the stiff-collared, starched apron grocer's shop of the 1950's. Every counter had it's queue, and it's till. The problem of successfully carrying eggs home in a paper bag by bicycle was one that I never managed to solve.

But the problem switched my line of thought to the shop that sold bicycle parts (and I got through quite a lot of those). It was one of those shops that was near the school, and thinking back, there was a great variety of shops near the school. There was a butcher, and a baker, a greengrocer, a newsagent, a grocer and a wool shop in one group; and a fresh fish shop, an off-licence, an ironmonger and a second-hand shop in another.

How very different from today's out of town supermarkets & DIY stores.

But was it better or worse, or just different?

There are some people who want the Church to stay like it was in the 1950's (or any age that suits them). But, just as the shops have had to change as a result of the changes in the way we live, so too the Church cannot stand still. I am not suggesting that the way forward is necessarily going to be as dramatic as the changes we have seen in our shopping habits, but I would not be surprised to see the Church becoming much less stiff and starchy over the next year or so.

The sense of reverence that some shopkeepers used to generate, was in some ways similar to the feeling we had on entering a Church. That feeling that, whilst they were pleased to see you, their goods were really for a better class of person. The Church too can give us the feeling that we are really not quite good enough. And that seems to me to be a very important reason to become more relaxed.

We still haven't managed to get the message across (like the supermarket) that whoever you are, you are welcome - nor are we very good at advertising what is not just "This week's Special" - "Think Life Eternal"

2000 Miles On Foot For ADEC And The World

Last Leg of Journey - Milton Keynes To Aylesbury

In an effort to raise public awareness of local and global issues and gain sponsorship for ADEC, City trader Gavin Stewart embarked on a 2000 miles walk around England on 6th May 1996.

The last leg of Gavin's journey will be on Wednesday 14th August, when he will depart from Milton Keynes and walk through local villages back to Aylesbury via the canal.

Gavin said, "I have been talking to local people on route to find out what concerns them, and what it is to be English. I've had some interesting responses!" He intends writing a book about the state of the nation at a later date.

If you would like to gain publicity for your club/group's activities by meeting Gavin on his walk or walking with him for a few miles please contact ADEC on 01296 395185.
